

Let's Babble

Dear principals and teachers,

I am truly excited to announce that Let's Babble is ready for you. This is the second edition of the Babble series. The first one Babbling with only my articles was very warmly welcomed. Over 3,000 copies have been given out.

As for the new edition, Let's Babble, my blog entries are there but also included are other teachers' contributions as well as three of my earlier essays on teaching and school management.

You are most welcome to fetch copies for your colleagues and students. The whole point of publishing the Babble series is for sharing. Simply complete the attached form and we will have the copies for you to collect. For each school, we can give away up to a hundred copies.

We will continue publishing the Babble series and so your views are most important in deciding the direction of the third edition. Please feel free to write to me your views and thoughts or better still start sending in your contributions for the next edition.

As the Year of the Monkey is round the corner, here is wishing you all a prosperous year!

Pauline
