

Babbling Series

Dear Principal/Teachers,

The Hong Kong Women Teachers' Organization has just published "We all love babbling !". This booklet is the third of the Babbling series. It includes not only my blog entries but also articles by 15 other writers including a school principal, teachers and students, a human resources consultant, a pilot, an accountant and a police sergeant. Topics covered are very varied. Readers should be able to resonate with some if not all the articles.

We are now offering this new issue as well as the two previous publications to your schools for English teachers to freely adopt them in their lessons. You only have to complete the form below and send it to us, then we can arrange for your staff to collect the books.
